FINANCIAL STEWARDSHIP

Financial Stewardship

Everybody wants to prosper financially, but did you know that your attitude is the key? It's not your job, what you inherited, or anything else. It's your mindset that makes the difference.

When it comes to finances and prosperity, we need to have an attitude of stewardship. According to the dictionary, the word steward means "one who manages another's property, finances, or other affairs." If you adopt the attitude that everything you have and produce is actually a gift from God—that God is the one who gave you your health, your opportunities, and your talents—instead of looking at these things as yours, then you have a stewardship mentality. That changes everything!

Having the right attitude releases the provision that God provided through Jesus. Scripture (2 Cor. 8:9) tells us that Jesus became poor, so that through His poverty you might be made rich. This isn't just talking about becoming rich emotionally or spiritually. That's included, but so is becoming rich financially.

Part of the atonement of Jesus is to prosper you and meet your physical needs. If you aren't prospering, then you're missing out on part of what Jesus purchased for you. Receiving doesn't just automatically happen. You have to believe and have the right attitude to release this provision.

When you're a steward, you sow into the kingdom of God in faith. In 2 Corinthians 8:10–11, Paul is talking to people who had begged him to let them become a part of the offering. They didn't have much, but they were generous, and they wanted to give. Paul tells them to follow through and do what's in their hearts. I'm telling you, there are a lot of people that have a desire to be a blessing, but they're fearful about doing it.

I believe God understands that just getting to where you trust Him in finances is hard on a lot of people, so He says, try it, prove me, and see if it won't work:

Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.

Malachi 3:10

Some of you have a heart to be a giver—to put God's kingdom first—but you just haven't acted on it. I encourage you to listen to what God is telling you to do and give in faith.

In 2 Corinthians 8:12, Paul goes on to say:

For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

This verse refers to your heart attitude. First, you've got to have a willing mind, then your gifts are accepted based on the heart attitude that's behind it. First Corinthians 13:3 confirms this:

And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.

The heart attitude behind your gift is more important than the gift. Some people think it's just as simple as putting a coin in a slot machine—you pull the handle and God comes out. People think, God, I've given to you. Now you've got to give back. No, it depends on your heart attitude. If you give with the wrong attitude, even to feed the poor, rather than being motivated with the right attitude of love, it profits you nothing.

One final point I want to make comes from 2 Corinthians 9:6:

But this I say, He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully.

It's amazing to me how many people are wanting God to supply these big needs for them and yet they give just a tiny bit. That's like a farmer who wants to reap a field of hundreds of acres, and yet he's only planted two or three seeds. You're absolutely crazy if you think you're going to reap hundreds of acres if you've only planted a few seeds. It doesn't work that way. Yet there are people who believe God for big things when they've only given a very small amount.

It's not about giving a specific financial amount. Your giving should be proportional to what you have. For example, if you have ten pounds and you give five pounds, then you've given a 50 percent offering. That's huge in the sight of God, and that's going to produce a lot of fruit. You have to give generously if you want to receive generously. That's just the way that it works.

Some people might think this is manipulating God, but it's not. It's simply following the natural laws that God created. If you sow sparingly, you're going to reap sparingly. If you sow bountifully, you'll reap bountifully. God loves a cheerful giver. You are supposed to give as you purpose in your own heart.

To prosper financially, you need to have the right attitude. This means you see yourself as a steward of what God has given you and you give generously in faith and love.

I want each one of you to prosper. That's why I've emphasised the importance of your heart attitude. However, I'm able to cover more topics of financial stewardship and go into more detail with many practical examples in my complete teaching, so I encourage you to get it. This month, we're offering an awesome package that includes the Financial Stewardship book, study guide, your choice of CD or DVD teaching album, and the Financial Breakthroughs DVD, which shares stories of people who learned to have the right attitude toward finances and then received their financial breakthroughs.

AWMPACT: The Power of Partnership

The same power that raised Christ from the dead doesn't live in just Andrew. As born-again believers, we have the life of God on the inside of us too! This month, learn about one family that was able to experience the power of God in their lives because of your partnership.

In 2019, Mara De Los Reyes and her husband, Isaac, took their family to the Phoenix Gospel Truth Conference. Mara and Isaac's sons, Xzavier and Roman, both needed physical healing. Xzavier had been diagnosed with sensory processing disorder which made him sensitive to light and sound and also impaired his taste and sense of smell. Roman suffered from asthma and wore glasses.

On entering the conference, Mara took Xzavier to the front of the auditorium for prayer. As a video played in the background, he panicked at the noise.

"I asked myself, do I want to stand in the way of this healing right now and wait for Andrew?"

— Mara De Los Reyes

Mara had her heart set on Andrew praying for Xzavier, but he was not available. Instead she prayed with another mother who happened to be a Charis Phoenix student. The prayer minister placed her hand gently on Xzavier's back and spoke to a spirit of infirmity, telling it to leave. After prayer, he calmed down. The next day, the volume of music and people clapping did not bother him. Xzavier sang at the top of his lungs, worshipping the Lord!

Coming home from the conference, Roman told his mother to donate his glasses to Goodwill. Although Mara was concerned, she did not want to negatively affect her son's faith. He took off his glasses and never put them on again!

Additionally, Roman decided on his own that he would be healed from asthma. One day, during an attack, he chose not to use his inhaler. Mara asked if he was sure, and he said that he was okay. When talking to his mom about how he walked out his healing, Roman said that he resisted the devil and the devil left!

Thank you, partners! The De Los Reyes family understands that if the Phoenix Gospel Truth Conference was not available—they would not have been able to receive prayer. Following the conference, they became partners with AWM. Mara and Isaac believe that the miraculous healings their sons received are a direct result of the overflow of blessings from partnership.

THE HEART OF CHRISTMAS

A GIFT CAN CHANGE YOUR LIFE FOREVER

DECEMBER 11-13

HEARTOFCHRISTMAS.ORG | WOODLAND PARK, CO

Discipleship Through Theatre

The Heart of Christmas is a spectacular musical production brimming with talent. The performances reflect hundreds of hours of behind-the-scenes preparation, as Charis Bible College students learn their lines, songs, and stage techniques.

However, participants learn more than their part in the show. Under the leadership of Robert and Elizabeth Muren, the Charis Creative Arts School Directors, participants not only sharpen their performing skills; they also gain confidence and a deeper understanding of the Gospel. The biblical stories portrayed onstage take on new meaning for participants as they work together to bring the stories to life—it's discipleship on a whole new level.

Robert explains how discipleship takes place through theatre productions: "One of the best fruits of production work happens behind stage. Being together as a team and doing our part to share the message of the Gospel connects people, enables discipleship, fosters fellowship, and expresses church at its best. Generational divides are erased, new friendships are forged, and together we achieve so much more than each of us could have done individually."

Students emerge from their theatre experiences ready to walk out their God-given purpose.

Maddie Leake, a 2019 graduate of the Charis Creative Arts School and a veteran of twelve productions, says her experiences helped her to overcome fears and prepared her for ministry. "This whole year in the Creative Arts School, has been a fast-track for killing my flesh. I've learned how to not live in the fear of man or fear of anything really. You can do anything if you're not afraid," says Maddie.

Maddie's newfound confidence helped her to minister in eight European countries—Germany, Bulgaria, Greece, Italy, Hungary, Poland, the Czech Republic, and the United Kingdom—with a ministry called European Initiative.

Maddie is one of many students involved in Charis theatre productions. Since 2014, the Murens have directed over thirty performances at Charis, and Robert estimates that around 500 students have participated.

Not only do students receive discipleship from their involvement in the shows, but audiences also see the Gospel in a new and powerful way. Tens of thousands of people have attended the live shows, and countless more have watched the performances on DVD.

Robert says that time after time, the shows impact audiences: "The response is always phenomenal. As the stories and the Word are brought alive onstage, it seems to resonate deeply with the audiences. We have tears and celebrations and wonderful feedback on every show. People have received the Gospel and come to faith for the first time. Through the story of Jesus healing the sick, we have received reports of people that were healed themselves, in the very moment they were sitting in the audience and becoming part of the story. It is very real."

You don't want to miss The Heart of Christmas performance taking place 11th - 13th December, at Charis Bible College in Woodland Park. In addition to the three performances, a Christmas Market will take place in the lobby before, during, and after each show, giving you the opportunity to find unique, handcrafted gifts.
