Hope for Healing

Did you know that imagination is important in receiving your healing?

It's true, your imagination is powerful, and using it the right way can help you receive your healing. Of course, to use your imagination, you have to first understand what your imagination is. According to the dictionary, imagination is the ability to see something that's not real or present. Imagination can be used negatively or positively, and often the Bible warns us of the problems that come from a negative imagination. That is why the Lord had to confuse languages at the tower of Babel.

However, there is a positive way that you can use your imagination—the Bible calls this hope.

For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for? But if we hope for that we see not, then do we with patience wait for it.

Romans 8:24–25

One day I was meditating on this scripture in Romans, and it suddenly dawned on me that hope is seeing something that you can't see—this is the same as the definition of imagination! I've got an entire book on The Power of Imagination, but today I want to focus on applying the concept of hope—your positive imagination—to healing. You need to use your positive imagination to see yourself healthy and enjoying life in total wholeness.

The problem is most people are using their imagination negatively. You don't see yourself as the victor. Instead, you see yourself as a victim. You've imagined that sickness, paralysis, and disease are all bigger than you. You think there's nothing you can do, so you'll just have to manage the illness and learn how to live with it. When you speak and imagine this way, you're cooperating with the enemy. You've given the devil a place that he doesn't deserve to have.

God did not make you to be sick. By the stripes of Jesus, you are healed (1 Pet. 2:24)! As a believer you need to take your thoughts captive and turn your negative imagination into positive imagination based on the Word of God.

For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ.

2 Corinthians 10:3–5

This verse is telling us to control our negative imaginations. You can't necessarily stop thoughts of illness from coming because we live in a fallen world, but you can take every thought captive and into obedience to Christ. Here's another way to look at it: You can't keep a bird from flying over your head, but you can keep it from landing in your hair and making a nest!

Hope—your positive imagination—isn't the end result, but it is a necessary step along the way to your healing because it leads to faith. Hope activates faith.

So how do you maintain hope? Instead of dwelling on negative thoughts, use your positive imagination to begin to see yourself in victory. Don't try to pray for

HEALING RESOURCES

Most would agree that good health is a necessity, especially in these unprecedented times. Yet divine healing is one of the least understood topics in the body of Christ.

Don't remain in the dark. Become grounded in the truth about divine healing, and learn how to receive and maintain it. Get the Charis Healing University curriculum [available from awmi.net only], Healing Journeys videos available as a package or individually, and 2019 Healing Is Here Conference teachings on USB, CD, or DVD today!

See the enclosed order form for more information about these products and packages.

something that you've never conceived of in your imagination. Instead, imagine yourself walking in your healing. Once you see something, once you can get it in your imagination, I guarantee, it's just a matter of time until you will see it and feel it in the natural.

We've received an abundance of healing testimonies and documented many of them in our Healing Journeys video series. Many people who've received healing talk about how they started with the Word of God and the knowledge that God's will is always for healing. They gained hope and imagined themselves as healthy and whole before they walked in faith to receive their healings. This was the case with Maren Hamm. She was very ill with Lyme disease and bound to a wheelchair. However, she came to one of our Healing School sessions and learned the truth that God wanted her well. Then she began to see herself healed and not confined to a wheelchair. She saw herself able to run and dance and ride her horse again. She used her imagination to activate her faith, and today she is completely healed.

Don't make the mistake of thinking you don't have any power. Your imagination gives you great power, but if you aren't using it, it won't do you any good. If a doctor gives you a bad report, you need to focus your imagination on God. Isaiah 26:3 says, Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee.

This verse speaks to the power of your imagination. When you focus your imagination on God, you'll be able to stay in peace and see yourself well. You've got to take the Word of God and meditate on it until it paints a picture in your mind of you in victory, authority, and control over any attack of the enemy that's coming against you.

There is so much more I'd like to share with you about healing, but I don't have the space here. Using your imagination is a critical step in getting your healing, but there are many other topics in healing that you need to understand. That's why my staff and I created Charis Healing University, the Healing Is Here Conference, and our Healing Journeys videos. I encourage you to get our products on healing—God wants you well! As your understanding of healing increases, you'll see yourself healthy and whole in your imagination, your faith will grow, and you'll be ready to receive what Jesus has already provided for you.

We love you,

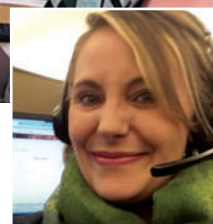

Andrew and Jamie

For Such a Time as This

Beginning in 1991 with a handful of volunteers serving as the Helpline Ministry, the AWM Phone Center now has over 140 employees. The Phone Center takes more than 40,000 calls each month, providing people with prayer and access to Andrew's teaching. Through the Helpline, people have received healing, deliverance, salvation, and baptism in the Holy Spirit.

Situated in a large office on the Charis Bible College main campus, the Phone Center's operations could have ceased during the state-mandated coronavirus shutdown. This would have left tens of thousands of people without access to prayer—during a time when it was greatly needed.

Thankfully, AWM employees had already taken steps to prepare for such a time as this. Going back to 2018, David McClure, Communication Services manager, began to see the need to increase call center capacity. Working closely with Duane Loyd, director of IT Operations, the two discussed options that would allow them to add remote Phone Center employees and increase their capacity. In 2019, David felt the Lord tell him that the high call volume experienced that year was just a taste of what was coming as AWM reaches more people with the Gospel.

Duane's research continued into 2020, so that, amazingly, when the coronavirus began to spread, the ministry was supernaturally prepared. AWM was loaned a remote phone system.

Although at its onset nobody was certain what the impact of the coronavirus would be, AWM employees took steps to get ahead of a possible shutdown. On Wednesday, 25th March, Phone Center employees brought in their personal computers to upload the necessary programs to answer calls from home. With all hands on deck, employees raced against the clock to ensure they would have the capabilities they needed. Later that same day, the governor of Colorado announced a "stay at home" order—requiring AWM to close. The order took effect Thursday, 26th March, but by 6:00 a.m., some Phone Center staff were already answering calls from their homes, and by Monday, 30th March, the Phone Center had reached full capacity again.

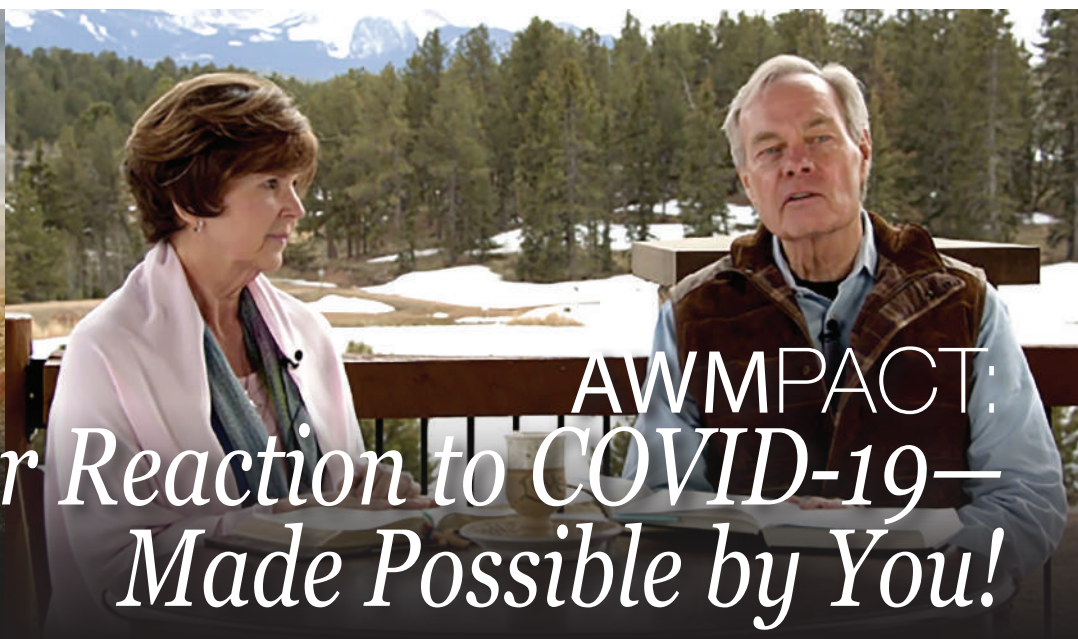

By being able to transition to remote work, employees were able to handle a record number of calls when Andrew's special Gospel Truth television broadcasts of The Believer's Authority aired. Through this life-giving teaching, people learn the truth of receiving God's healing power and protection. During the days this teaching aired, viewers could call in to receive The Believer's Authority book free of charge. On Thursday, 2nd April, the Phone Center answered 4,758 calls, their highest call volume in a single day to date.

David is grateful to work with such dedicated employees in helping spread the true Gospel. "The heart of the employees to help Andrew and to help people is awesome. It blesses us anytime we can help Andrew accomplish the vision God has given him," he says.

The Phone Center is a lifeline to those in need. Thanks to the support of friends and partners, along with the foresight of AWM employees, people were able to receive prayer and encouragement even through the shutdown.

AWMPACT: Our Reaction to COVID-19— Made Possible by You!

At an unprecedented time during which many countries closed their borders and states ordered their citizens to stay at home due to the coronavirus (COVID-19), AWM expanded its presence online to encourage people around the globe.

In March, days before the 2020 Men's Advance, the decision was made to make the event live stream only. With the rise of COVID-19 and local health officials' concern for large group gatherings, the meeting was limited to attendance for staff and students only.

Converting Men's Advance to live stream was a rousing success. While more than 1,200 registrants were scheduled to attend in person, more than 13,000 viewers accessed the broadcast online!

The men from the online community had a great time tuning in with us. This is what they had to say:

Thanks for streaming this! Watching from Alabama and wishing I was there with all the brethren.
– A. LeBlanc

Watching from Castle Rock. Couldn't make it down this year. Praise God for technology allowing people to hear His Word from afar! – R. Del Rio

Andrew's Live Bible Study started the "Faith Over Fear" series on March 22nd and featured special guests John Tesh, Jesse Duplantis, and Duane Sheriff. Through the series, those looking for a biblical response to the coronavirus found the answers that they needed. Here is what one online viewer had to say:

I searched Andrew's website to listen to what he would say about this virus and found this live stream. Thank you, Jesus. – B. Royseland

For the first time, Andrew held a Resurrection Sunday service! He and Jamie also hosted a Communion Service online:

Thank you, Jamie and Andrew for sharing communion with us! I so appreciate you, Jamie, for being willing to be in front of the camera. It meant a lot to me!
– D. Johns

Love all these chances to share God's Word during these stay-at-home times. – C. Britts

Additionally, AWM teamed up with a coalition of Christian organisations to offer free access to wholesome premium products through The Isaac Newton Project. People were able to enjoy the God With Us musical, two Charis Bible College teachings, and much more.

Increasing our presence online to bring hope during a time of panic would not have been possible without your support. Thank you, partners!

Healing Is for Everyone:

Donna Jones' Healing Journey

As a high-level corporate executive, Donna Jones was living the "American dream." She had a good job working for a major telecommunications company overseeing numerous consulting firms and managing several employees. But all that changed on 6th January, 1995, when an accident dramatically changed the course of her life.

One day, while driving in icy conditions, her car skidded on black ice and she hit her head on the frame of the window of her vehicle. After the accident, she was diagnosed with a traumatic brain injury. Her symptoms presented many new challenges. In one day, she went from having a photographic memory to being cognitively disabled. She suffered from short term memory loss and chronic headaches that caused terrible pain. To cope with the pain, she would spend many days sleeping.

Donna began to adapt to her new life and found creative ways to keep up with her daily routines. Her new morning routine would take her over two hours, and she had to keep a checklist to help her remember simple tasks like brushing her teeth or having breakfast. With the help of friends and family, she was able to keep her job while managing the symptoms. Living with disabilities opened her eyes and made her realise that, in the past, her identity had been based on her job.

Donna's distorted image of God led her to believe that He was in control of everything. She believed that God had chosen her to raise awareness and to be a spokesperson for people with brain injuries. Her disability had become her new identity. But God had something better for her.

Elisa, a good friend from work, introduced Donna to Cathy, who was hosting a women's Bible study based on Andrew's teaching God Wants You Well.

Cathy introduced her to Andrew's website and told her, "You can be healed of that brain injury."

With those words, a seed was planted in her heart.

Donna immersed herself in Andrew's teachings and listened to online testimonies over and over. Even though her brain had some limitations, she believed her spirit was receiving the power of every word she was hearing. The healing process began in her soul. God was freeing her from feelings of unworthiness and personal insecurities. She used her imagination to see herself as a loved and valued person.

Donna continued to renew her mind, and one day during an altar call she received prayer and her healing manifested. She was completely healed! The pain that tormented her for thirteen and a half years was gone, and her cognitive abilities were restored. Through her healing, she learned that her true identity is found in Christ.

Donna's healing continues to blossom. Together, Donna and Cathy are sharing the same truths that transformed Donna's life through a teaching ministry called Healing Is for Everyone. Donna has also published multiple books on healing and two about her personal journey. To take her ministry to the next glory, Donna is currently a student at Charis Bible College.

One miracle leads to more miracles. With the help of friends and partners of this ministry, God is using Andrew's teachings to help people like Donna in their own healing journeys. To get the full impact of this story, go to awmi.net/video/series and watch Donna's full Healing Journeys video.
