VOICES FROM AROUND THE MINISTRY

In 2020 our world entered a state of madness. Panic and fear rose like the tide in the hearts of man. The church and God's people eagerly looked to their brothers and sisters for strength. With hopeful eyes, the world looked at God's people to see what they would do. It was in this time of chaos that Andrew Wommack Ministries created new and better ways of reaching out to God's people in every corner of the world, bringing the hope of the Gospel. The response has been absolutely astounding.

It's spreading.

Isaac Akowuah is our Regional Director for all of Africa. He's a man of strength and wisdom and a gentle soul to all those around him. When asked about the increased frequency of live streams and Andrew's impact on the world during the pandemic, he explains, "Andrew's live streams seem to be an image, a picture of the benefit of God's Holy Spirit." He continues, "Do we want Andrew here in Africa? Yes, of course! But we have seen God expand His reach through Andrew and his outreach online. The numbers are growing." The South Africa team has been able to minister to many people through the live streams and other content pouring out of our ministry headquarters. Not only is it spreading throughout South Africa, but the whole of Africa itself.

Changing the world from behind the scenes.

Mark White is the live Production Manager for Andrew Wommack Ministries. Every day Mark works tirelessly with his team to make sure every teaching, Bible study, and live stream reaches every corner of the earth, efficiently bringing the Gospel to a rapidly increasing number of people.

Mark shares what it was like when the pandemic invaded the globe. "My job changed a lot," he says. "Andrew asked us to build our production into the ability to stream to the entire world every day, and my team did it without question." At first, Mark had no numerical value to demonstrate exactly how many people his team has reached. When he learned the impact of the new ministry efforts in Hungary, Canada, Russia, Africa, and everywhere else, he was astonished.

A light in the darkness.

The ministry's presence in Canada is growing quickly, despite the strenuous restrictions on public gatherings and events. Scott Kennedy, Director for Andrew Wommack Ministries in Canada and a wonderful man of God, shares on some of the blessings and struggles of working in a post-pandemic age. Despite the limits, a second Charis Bible College was opened in Calgary, Alberta during the pandemic. Scott says that doing ministry in Canada required adjustments, with the office doing events such as Healing School completely online, and many staff and all CBC students working remotely. Some events, including the Canada Gospel Truth Seminar with Andrew Wommack, were postponed and done by live stream. However, the AWM Canada team is excited for the day when Andrew can visit in person, when restrictions begin to lessen, and in person ministry resumes.

A revival is coming.

Meanwhile in Europe, Zsolt Katona, the Director of AWM and Charis Bible College in Hungary, shared about the incredible growth occurring in the small European country. He explained that an in-person conference with Andrew would have gathered 1,500 people. But now, through the use of streaming technology, a staggering 20,000 people have tuned in to some of these online teachings.

To add to those mindboggling numbers, their ministry YouTube channel, which began with an average of just over 3,000 views per video, is now seeing around 80,000 views on some of its top-performing videos. The Katonas have also gained an impressive number of partners willing to help continue the Lord's work in Hungary. These are not just numbers; they are people, souls, children of God being pulled from darkness into light. Thank you, Lord!

Let those who fear the LORD now say, "His mercy endures forever." I called on the LORD in distress; the LORD answered me and set me in a broad place. The LORD is on my side; I will not fear. What can man do to me?
