Financial Stewardship: The Least of These

Jesus said trusting Him with our money was the least use of our faith (Luke 16:9–11). If we can't do that which is least, then we can't do the greater things. This is very important to understand.

I think the whole key to biblical prosperity is to look at yourself as a steward and not as an owner. Psalm 24:1 says, "The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein." Everything you and I have belongs to the Lord. He just lets us steward it while we're here on this earth.

Everything I own - my vehicle, my home, my clothing, my jewellery, my savings, and even the food in my refrigerator - belongs to God. You might think you've earned your money and possessions by working and getting paid. You may have worked for it, but did you know that God gave you your skills and talents?

It's God who gives you the ability to go to work, and He chose you to be born into a period of unprecedented wealth and opportunity in the world. It's wise to adopt a steward's mindset and recognise this isn't my money; it's God's money.

When you get a hold of that truth and align your thinking with the Word of God, your attitude toward finances will radically shift. If you're sitting there thinking the reason I'm teaching on finances is so I can fleece you, you're either lying or you're totally deceived. I'm teaching on this because it's the Word of God, and people need to know how to prosper.

Jesus said that the love of money is the root of all evil, but money itself is not evil. Often, people who don't have very much money spend more time loving money, praying for money, and desiring money than people who have their needs met. It's the love of money that's the root of all evil.

Money itself is neither good nor bad; it's just neutral. The only thing money does is amplify what's already in your heart. If your heart is right, you can have money and use money to be a blessing.

In Ephesians 4:28 it says, "Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth."

Most people work so they can live, but this scripture is saying the reason we work is to have something to give to people in need. I believe the definition of biblical prosperity is summed up in 2 Corinthians 9:8, which says that "God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work." That's the reason I want to prosper - so I can abound unto every good work.

You know, the Lord has given me a vision of ministering to people over television. Our television bill for airtime alone is over one-and-a-half million dollars per month. Taking the Gospel as far and as deep as possible requires money. The reason I want to prosper is because I want to reach people, tell them the truth, and I couldn't do it if I didn't have money.

So the reason for prosperity, if you understand it correctly, isn't so you can get a bigger house, a bigger car, or more toys. It's so you can be a bigger blessing. I give away tens of thousands of books and materials and provide most of my teachings at no cost on my website to spread the Gospel and bless others. The greatest use of money isn't for yourself. It's so you can be a blessing to other people.

If your needs are met and you're at a level of contentment where you don't need any more, then use what you're learning about prosperity to be a blessing and help spread the Gospel. It's important to understand why Jesus said the greatest use of money isn't for yourself. Money is just a tool. You need to see yourself as a steward, and if you do that, I guarantee it would kill the love of money.

You know, Jamie and I have been through some challenging times. When we first started in ministry, we'd often go without food. And sometimes we'd go into a grocery store with only seven dollars and think, "What can we get for seven dollars?" and we'd have to pick and choose very carefully. So I recognise that God is my source, and He's the one who's blessed me.

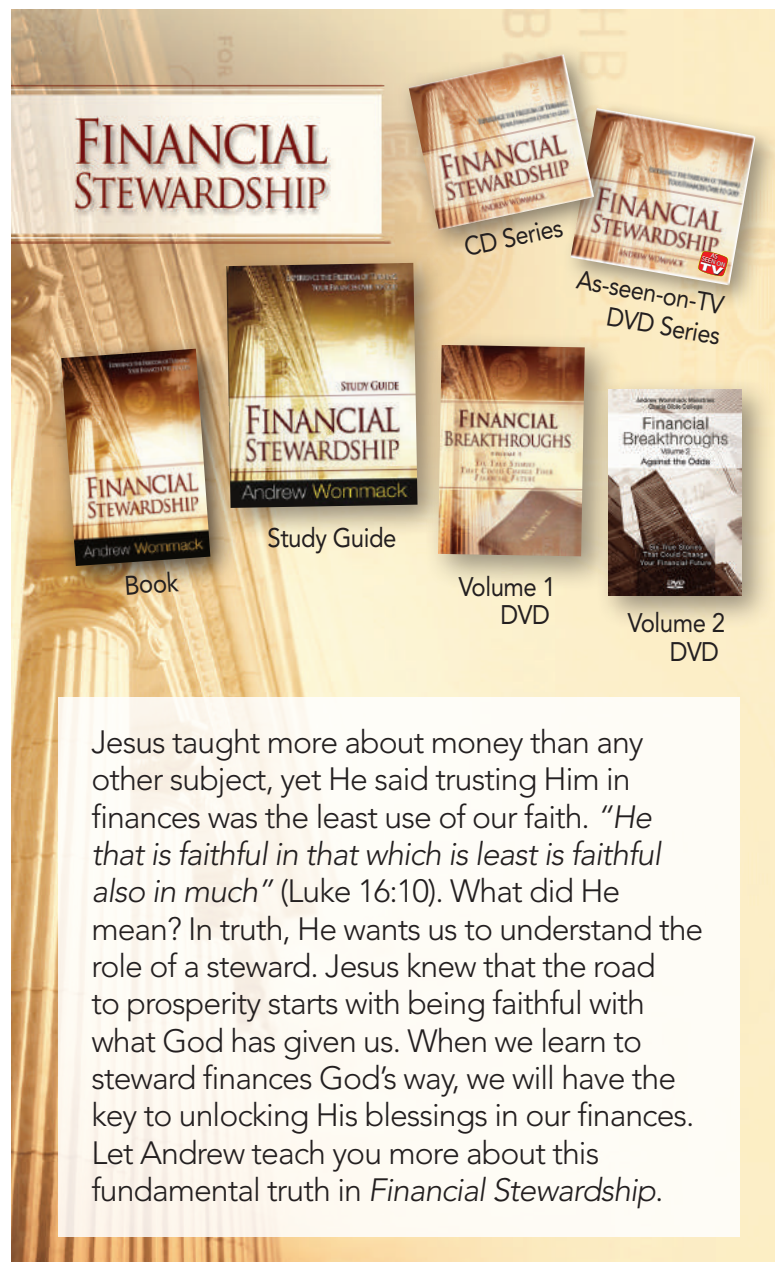

In Luke 16:10–12, the Lord says if you aren't faithful over that which is least - talking about money - He won't increase you and give you more. This is entry-level stuff. Trusting God with your money is a baby step of faith. It's the very smallest area of trusting Jesus. If you can't trust Him with your money, you're deceiving yourself if you think you can trust Him with your healing, deliverance, marriage, kids, and so on. Those things are a lot more important than just trusting God in the area of money.

I go into much more detail in my full teaching, and I think it would bless you and help you be more discerning in this area. Also, I'm sure you know some people who have bad attitudes about giving because of the abuses they've seen regarding money. I think this teaching would help them get past those hurts and begin receiving God's best in their finances.

A quote box on the right side of the collage contains the following text:

Jesus taught more about money than any other subject, yet He said trusting Him in finances was the least use of our faith. "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much" (Luke 16:10). What did He mean? In truth, He wants us to understand the role of a steward. Jesus knew that the road to prosperity starts with being faithful with what God has given us. When we learn to steward finances God's way, we will have the key to unlocking His blessings in our finances. Let Andrew teach you more about this fundamental truth in Financial Stewardship.

When It's Your Birthday, Who Gets the Gifts?

Many of us have experienced that exciting moment of tearing through wrapping paper on Christmas morning. How ironic it is, opening gifts on Jesus' birthday when it's not our birthday.

Jesus Christ is the only reason for the Christmas season. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16). Out of love, God gave the most precious gift of all - His Son. So we who have received God's love can now give love.

Friends and partners, through Andrew Wommack Ministries, you are supporting over fifty different ministries around the world that are feeding the homeless, loving their neighbours as themselves, and spreading the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

One such ministry is Foundations for Nations, established by Jason and Sarah Lucas who began their ministry on the Wind River Reservation in Wyoming. We're honoured we can send mission teams from Charis Bible College to help with the many things they're involved in. Foundations for Nations reaches out to the hurting and broken in their community and shows the people on the reservation what God's love really looks like by assisting community organisations, including their local food pantry and pregnancy centre. They are truly being the hands and feet of Jesus.

In December 2021, Charis students helped with the Kids Club Christmas party where eighty-eight children attended in Christmas pyjamas and made ornaments and gingerbread houses, worshipped the Lord, read the Christmas story, played games, and participated in other seasonal activities. And that was only the beginning of all they accomplished on that mission trip. Each year, Charis mission trips provide incredible experiences that lead students to finding, following, and fulfilling God's call on their lives.

Thank you, friends and partners, for giving gifts to Jesus by giving gifts to people around the world through Andrew Wommack Ministries! Because of you, ministries like Foundations for Nations are having an eternal impact, Charis students are finding their purpose, and people all around the world are discovering the God who loves them so much that He sent His only Son to die for their sins and give them everlasting life.

Preparation Time Is Never Wasted Time

Can someone with only a high school education become an airline pilot? The obvious answer is no, but many Christians don't realise the same concept applies to finding, following, and fulfilling God's will for their lives. Stepping into our calling involves following the Lord's leading and moving at His pace. God cares more about how well prepared we are for the journey than how quickly we arrive.

Tessa Swaengren's decision to attend Worship Arts School at Charis Bible College was the first pivotal step God used in steering her toward the purpose He had for her life.

While attending Charis, Tessa and her husband, Joe, received a word from God that one day they would have their own church in Woodland Park, Colorado. But after graduation, their life took an unexpected turn to serve another pastor in another state. On the surface it may have seemed like an unforeseen detour, but they would soon discover God was more concerned with preparing their hearts.

They faithfully served another man's vision, utilising all the tools and lessons they had learned during their three years at Charis. Whether helping with youth ministry, directing worship, or maintaining buildings, every task strengthened their skills and sharpened their vision. At one point, Tessa heard the Lord say, "The same way you've served another man's vision, I'm going to send people who will serve your vision just as faithfully and just as wholeheartedly."

Tessa recalls, "We both felt like sponges that were being squeezed, and every drop that came out was something we had learned at Charis Bible College. I believe there's a timing to everything God speaks to our hearts, and preparation time is so important because there are things God wants to do in us before He wants to do them through us."

Tessa's time at Charis Worship Arts School helped prepare her to step into her purpose and embrace her destiny. Today, she and Joe are the pastors of Freedom Church in Woodland Park. She leads worship for their church and is also the Worship Lead Coordinator at Charis, fulfilling the calling God placed on her heart.

Like David, who was anointed king while still a shepherd boy (1 Sam. 16:12–13), Tessa did not act on her anointing right away. She went through a period of preparation to become rooted and grounded in God's Word on the inside before stepping into the call of God on her life.

Has God placed a desire in your heart for worship? If so, have you buried that dream for lack of knowledge and skills? If you want to learn more about God's plan for your life and take steps toward achieving it, we invite you to come to Charis Bible College.

Visit CharisBibleCollege.org/worship to learn how the Third-Year Worship Arts School can develop your gifts and help you turn your heart's desire into a reality. And remember: preparation time is never wasted time!

Campus Expansion for Kingdom Advancement

Have you noticed God's hand at work in the world today? In recent years, the fight for people's hearts and minds has really been heating up. And although the devil is a defeated foe, he continues to wage war against the church. The battle has always been about souls.

This is where Charis Bible College comes in - for the sole purpose of raising up disciples to be strong in faith and grounded in truth. Being God's instrument to further His kingdom is an honour beyond description, and we believe the Lord is raising us up for such a time as this.

*For if thou altogether holdest thy peace at this time, then shall there enlargement and deliverance arise to the Jews from another place; but thou and thy father's house shall be destroyed: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?

Esther 4:14, emphasis added

Twenty-three years ago, God put a vision in Andrew Wommack's heart, and all of it is coming to pass.

The progress and success of Charis Bible College is nothing short of an absolute miracle. With each incremental step of obedience, God has continued to pour down blessing, favour, and provision on us.

Charis is on a mission to reach more people with the Gospel, and our plans to expand the scope of our campus will help us do just that.

In recent months, God has significantly enlarged the Charis vision to include campus facilities that will double our growth and attract a wider range of students. It will take time, and the plan is still in its early stages, but the Lord has made it clear that we must move forward and move quickly. In fact, the labour pains are beginning to set in.

The Charis experience continues to transform the lives of thousands of people, and now the Lord has broadened the vision for us to reach even more!

A significant factor in reaching our goal of doubling the current student enrollment to 2,500 in the next decade is the development of on-campus student housing. As many of you know, we just broke ground on our Woodland Park campus to begin construction of housing that will accommodate our growing student body.

Many colleges and universities provide student housing for 60 percent of their students, but because of our unique demographics, our target is to house 40 percent, or 1,000 students. Initially, we will be able to house 240 students in the six dorms built on campus. We also have plans to construct single-family houses and duplexes that will house families throughout our headquarters property, enabling us to eventually house an additional 800 students.

Constructing a student lounge, activity centre, cafeteria, food courts, performing arts centre, sports complex, and other campus-wide facilities will provide activities that will minister to students on every level - spiritually, emotionally, and physically. And our goal is to complete all these projects by 2033, completely debt free.

We believe there is no better place to study God's Word than Charis Bible College where the Bible is the only textbook. The natural beauty and serenity of the area provide the perfect setting for digging into God's Word and listening for His still, small voice.

We see God's hand at work in raising up Charis to be the premiere Bible college in the world. Students who come to Charis are deeply committed to growing in their relationship with God. Once they get a revelation of His goodness, grace, and love for them, they leave transformed and ready to change the world.

Coming to Charis was the best thing God has asked me to do so far. It was encouraging to build connections with like-minded believers who are passionate about the Lord. The teaching on God's love and grace was brought to light in a way that my mind hadn't fully grasped. The more knowledge I get of His love, the more grounded I become. Charis really helped me deepen my own personal relationship with the Lord.

- Taylor B.

The expansion of Charis has nothing to do with any one individual or ministry. The only goal is to make disciples who will then make more disciples. And Charis is a disciple-making machine. Only through discipleship can we be "the salt of the earth" and "the light of the world" like Jesus instructed.

There is a special 3-D flyover presentation of the Charis expansion plan, which was live-streamed on 6th December. The presentation shows a visual representation of what the Lord is directing us to do. We believe you will be blessed to catch the vision and inspired to be a blessing as we work together to spread the nearly-too-good-to-be-true news to as many people as possible.
