DISCIPLES AWAKEN IN FRANCE: CHARIS NICE LAUNCHES

And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed.

Romans 13:11

Something has awakened in France.

In 2020, Charis graduate Martin Alargent and a small but determined team of translators launched the work of presenting Andrew Wommack Ministries in French, taking the message of God’s unconditional love and grace all over the French-speaking world through The Gospel Truth broadcasts and printed materials.

Since then, the response has gone beyond anyone’s expectations. So much so, that this small team found themselves at the helm of taking a nation’s discipleship to the next level: launching a Charis location in France.

“So many French-speaking people from all over the French-speaking world have contacted us because they want more,” Martin explained. “And they heard that Charis was a project that we had. So many of them are thirsty and hungry for what Charis has to offer.”

Unexpected Transformations

In order to take on the tremendous task of translating the entire Charis curriculum, while keeping up with the demands of our AWM France office, Martin and his staff turned to a professional Christian translation company, based in the Mauritius Islands, to translate the Charis curriculum into French. Even though the translation team was preparing the materials for future Charis students, the message of grace wouldn’t wait. The grace message worked its transformative power, and many of the translators began reporting radical change in their own lives as they worked.

“We got testimonies from them that they were so challenged in their beliefs,” shared Martin. “And in the break room, they would talk about revelations that they would get from the teachings, from Charis [materials] that they were translating.”

“Also, they [brought] back the revelations to their husbands and wives at home, to their families—and they are being transformed as they translate.” Martin continued, “For me, it’s just a sign and a reminder of what’s coming: French-speaking people are going to be discipled, transformed, and changed and receive so much revelation from the Word of God that it’s going to set them free.”

Charis Nice Launches

Martin and his team hosted their first Charis Day in July with many people traveling in by plane, train, and hours by car to learn more about the new school. On September 10, Charis Nice officially opened its doors in the south of France and welcomed over sixty students into their first-year class.

While the translated curriculum will enable our new location in Nice to disciple its students in their own language, the reach goes far beyond the borders of France and impacts a potential student body too numerous to count. With this in mind, Martin and his team have already made plans to launch a distance education program next year, swinging the doors wide open for the entire French-speaking world.

“There [are] people who have filled in the interest form on our Charis Bible College website in French,” shared Martin. “And so that’s really exciting because they are literally from all over the French-speaking world—all of the countries in Europe, like Switzerland and Belgium. Also from all over Africa, from Canada, from the French Islands, Guyana—it’s really a global project and a global effort to make this message available for the French-speaking world.”

To the friends and partners of Charis World Outreach, we want to say thank you.
