CHARIS MBARARA: New Location Springs from the Same Well of Living Water

And Isaac dug again the wells of water which they had dug in the days of Abraham his father.

Genesis 26:18, New King James Version

Like an ancient well used for generations, the timeless power of in-person discipleship works as effectively today as it did in the very beginning. Though we now use smartphones and satellites to spread the Gospel as far and as deep as possible, we at Charis World Outreach focus not on flashy technical trends but on methods of ministry that yield eternal results.

That brings us to the launch of our newest Charis location in Uganda: Charis Mbarara.

After running the Charis campus in Kampala, Uganda, Directors Junaïd and Kelly-Anne Esau set their sights on Mbarara, a city in the country's western region.

With Mbarara steeped in works-based religion, Junaïd and Kelly-Anne knew that before starting a new Bible college, they first had to lay the groundwork with the local pastors and ministers, many of whom had never heard of Andrew Wommack before.

With only one chance to make a good first impression, the Esaus resisted the urge to rely on trendy marketing methods and chose to move into the future by revisiting the victories of the past. While seeking God for direction, Junaïd remembered Leland Shores, the Charis graduate who pioneered the grace message in Uganda fifteen years earlier.

Junaïd says, "I then began to start asking the Lord to direct me to these old wells.

What brought life into the nation when the ministry first started? How are those arms of the ministry doing right now?"

These questions unlocked a door to the city of Mbarara. Prompted by the Holy Spirit, the Esaus utilised the Discipleship Evangelism (DE) program, the same material that Leland brought throughout the back roads of Uganda in his quest to establish local pastors in the true Gospel.

Revisiting Old Wells

This tried-and-true well quenched the thirst of a culture ripe for breakthrough. As local pastors and ministers of Mbarara got a taste of the grace message through DE, the desire to go deeper in God's Word shot through the roof. When Charis Mbarara opened its doors in June, twenty-four students enrolled.

A Doorway to East Africa

With students in both Kampala and Mbarara taking what they've learned in the classroom to their hometowns and beyond, the Holy Spirit has gained a foothold not only in Uganda but also in Eastern Africa.

"Uganda is very central to East Africa. I think what happens in Uganda has ripple effects in the rest of East Africa as well," Junaid shares. "Our students are coming back with testimonies of blind eyes being opened, sicknesses being healed, and families being made whole."

Changing a Continent One Step at a Time

The testimonies and miracles coming from our students reflect just one example of what the partners and friends of Charis World Outreach have enabled us to do around the world. Through your continued support, the foundation laid by pioneers like Andrew Wommack and Leland Shores has reached an entirely new generation with the power of the Gospel. And we are only just beginning!

With our African expansion project focussed on using the "old wells" to strategically launch a Charis location in every country of the continent, our team in World Outreach have their work cut out for them.

"We have a great mountain here in East Africa called Kilimanjaro," notes Junaid, "and as great as that mountain is, it's conquered one step at a time. I believe we've got a big vision in East Africa, but we take it one step at a time."
